Corvettes and Caffeine December 7th, 2013

What a 'Great' time at Corvettes and Caffeine on Saturday, December 7th.

113 Corvettes, 240 cups of coffee, 12 dozen donuts, 3 dozen bagels and 2 cases of water! Even with the start time of 7:00am, Corvettes were arriving just after 6:00am!

Robert Nevins (always one to the first to arrive) was on hand at 6:10am and Robert Lamar (AKA "SuperMan"), regained, not only his 'Special Parking Place', but the donut with his name on it. It's great to know we can always count on you guys for support for Corvettes and Caffeine.

The temps were around 37F at 5:30am (think that is 2.7777777777777777C) in the Peoples Republic of Canada, and the predicted rain was no where in sight. With the cool temps, most of the early morning was indoors, but once the sun came up, so did the temps, and everyone moved outside to look at the great selection of Corvettes we had in attendance.

Each Corvettes and Caffeine seems to be getting better and better, with lots of familiar faces and more and more 'new' faces each month. This month was no exception with several new folks joining in with the 'Usual Suspects' who support our Corvettes and Caffeine.

One of the highlights of Saturday's Corvettes and Caffeine was the Jim Judkins with his Cyber Gray C7 Z51. We saw the Carlisle Blue Grand Sport again and we had 2 '96 Grand Sports side by side as well.

Special 'Thanks' to the 'Great' turnout from the SACC (Solid Axle Corvette Club), holding their monthly Tech Session in our Club Room. The SACC Members presented us with a huge banner, which will find a suitable home in the store. It's always great to see some of the C1's and C2's out on a clear sunny day. Several other valley clubs were represented, including ACE (Arizona Corvette Enthusiasts), and, 'Of Course', our Preferred Customers!!

Corvette Convertible kicks off with exclusive 'Premier Edition'!!

Just like it did with the coupe, Chevy has announced that it will offer the Corvette Stingray Convertible as an exclusive Premiere Edition for a lucky few customers. Limited to just 550 units, all examples of the Stingray Premiere Edition Convertible will come in Lime Rock Green with a tan top, fitted with all the goodies from the base 3LT Z51 Convertible and then some.

These convertibles will all add dealer-option five-spoke wheels with Stingray-logo center caps, while the interior adds suede upholstery, carbon-fiber trim and special sill plates. If that's not enough, the Premiere Edition roadster also comes standard with optional extras like the performance exhaust and Magnetic Selective Ride Control fitted as standard. The whole package is finished off with a $920 five-piece fitted luggage set from Thule.

When this limited-edition convertible goes on sale early next year, Chevy will be asking – and likely have no problem getting – $77,450 for it (including destination). That's about $10,000 over a stock 3LT Z51 convertible, and about a $4,000 premium over a fully-loaded model fitted with all of this car's options. Is that measure of exclusivity worth the extra four grand? If for resale value alone, we're sure at least 550 buyers will think so.
